GIDEON WELLES.

Extract of a Letter from Ex-Secretary Welles-He Handles Grant Without Gloves.

The Hanging of Avery, at Hackensack, New Jersey.

St. Louis, July 4.—Ex-Secretary of the Navy, Gideon Welles, has written a letter to a friend in this city, which is published in the Times this morning, the Memphis Savings Institute, says that while the body was hanging, the brother Thomas was pacing an outside half, almost brother Thomas was pacing an outside half almost brother Thomas was pacing and objectionable candidate to have been difficult to find a more disagreeable and objectionable candidate to three-fourths of the men who must vote for him if he is to be elected than Horace Greeky. But while I have for a lifetime to the corrected as a holiday. Business was suspended, and the citizens of all classes gave themselves up to pleasure. A fine second of the mean who must vote for him if he is to be elected than Horace Greeky. But while I have for a lifetime place in Lucas's place in the morning, the main points of the enforcement of the ordinance recently passed by the City Council against fire-creckers, etc., has tended to phase in the St. Louis and the citizens of the ordinance recently passed by the City Council against fire-creckers, etc., has tended to phase in the St. Louis and silvent and the citizens of the ordinance recently passed by the City Council against fire-creckers, etc., has tended to phase in the St. Louis and silvent as the city sould nance recently passed by the City Council against fire-creckers, etc., has tended to phase in the St. Louis and all way landings.

While going under a bridge it settled with the meaning of the ordinance recently passed by the City Council against fire-creckers, etc., has tended to phase in the St. Louis and all way landings.

St. Louis, July 4.—Louis Mekee, Council against fire-creckers, etc., has tended to phase in the City council against fire-creckers, etc., has tended to phase in the Savet Haven this morning. While going under a bridge it settled to phase capter than the cars fire or use of the ordinance recently passed by the City Council against fire
